North Huntsville Industrial Park Phase III receives AdvantageSite designation

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 10 – The North Huntsville Industrial Park – Phase III in Madison County has received the Alabama AdvantageSite designation.

The AdvantageSite program requires that community economic development organizations provide documentation specific to a proposed industrial site, including a set of standard data related to ownership/control, environmental and geotechnical conditions, and infrastructure status. Sites must also meet size, zoning and accessibility requirements.

The 67-acre site is located within the Huntsville city limits. The site is approximately five miles to U.S. 431 and 10 miles to Interstate 565. The site can be accessed via Alabama 255 , which is a four- lane highway.

The application process was managed locally by the Chamber of Commerce of Huntsville/Madison County in partnership with the City of Huntsville and with a team of local entities supporting and/or participating in the process.

“This is an area of Huntsville we’ve been focusing on for many years,” said Huntsville Mayor Tommy Battle. “We’ve put in the foundation and the building blocks to encourage development and are excited about the future possibilities for industry and for new jobs to support our growing community.”

Added Madison County Commission Chairman Dale Strong: “Madison County has been at the forefront of some of the largest economic development projects in the Southeast. The AdvantageSite designation once again shows that we are perfectly positioned for even more success in the days ahead.”

Huntsville City Councilman Devyn Keith said promoting new business and industry to District 1 is a priority for him and for the residents living in North Huntsville.

“This certification is the gold seal of approval in helping us to achieve our goal to provide new jobs and opportunity,” Keith said.

AdvantageSite is a teamwork approach between the private sector and state and local governments geared toward having prepared product and materials ready for industrial prospects. Alabama now has 54 active AdvantageSites in the state.

The program is jointly sponsored by the Alabama Department of Commerce, Alagasco, Alabama Power Co., the North Alabama Industrial Development Association, PowerSouth Energy Cooperative, and coordinated by the Economic Development Partnership of Alabama. Representatives from each of the entities actively participate in application reviews and on-site visits to prospective AdvantageSite designees.

AdvantageSite is a voluntary industrial site preparedness program created in order to make the state more competitive for companies considering a location in Alabama.
