Rogersville Industrial Park receives AdvantageSite designation

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 12 – Rogersville Industrial Park has received AdvantageSite designation.

The AdvantageSite program requires that community economic development organizations provide documentation specific to a proposed industrial site, including a set of standard data related to ownership/control, environmental and geotechnical conditions, as well as infrastructure status.

Sites must also meet size, zoning and accessibility requirements.

“We are very pleased that the Rogersville Industrial Park has been designated as one of the first AdvantageSites in the state of Alabama and would like to express our appreciation to the Economic Development Partnership of Alabama, the Alabama Development Office, and the North Alabama Industrial Development Association for working with us through this documentation process,” said Bart Jackson, AdvantageSite coordinator, Shoals Economic Development Authority.

“We would also like to thank the Town of Rogersville, the Rogersville IDB, and other members of our local team for their efforts to achieve this designation, which should give prospective clients an advantage in locating a great site for industrial development,” he said.

The other designated AdvantageSites are in Cullman, Franklin, Jackson and Marion Counties. This is the fifth site to receive the AdvantageSite designation.

The AdvantageSite program is jointly sponsored by the Alabama Development Office, Alabama Gas Corporation, Alabama Power Company, the Economic Development Partnership of Alabama, the North Alabama Industrial Development Association and PowerSouth Energy Cooperative.

The voluntary industrial site preparedness program was created in order to make the state more competitive for companies considering a location in Alabama.
